

INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE ARGUS CRUDE OIL MARKET 2010 Prospects for exports from Russia to Asia

27–28 May 2010, The Ritz-Carlton, Moscow, Russia

The conference will cover crude oil pricing in the Asia-Pacific market, the tariff policy for shipments via ESPO and the construction phases of ESPO infrastructure. Delegates will be able to meet senior managers from Transneft and Russian oil companies, as well as Asian crude buyers during the conference.

The following issues will be discussed at the conference:

- The strategy for Russia's oil and gas sector development until 2030 — focus on exports to Asia. Outlook for oil exploration and development in East Siberia.
- Tariff policy issues for ESPO shipments, including pipeline, railway and port components.
- Asia-Pacific crude oil market — key consumers and sources of crude supply. ESPO Blend pricing.
- The freight market and the outlook for new export routes from Russia. The Kozmino terminal — capacity and technical specifications.
- The outlook for pipeline supplies to China. Logistics for railway shipments from Skovorodino to Kozmino.
- Crude supplies from East Siberia and swap opportunities. The outlook for development of new fields.

The last Argus Crude Oil Market Conference drew together representatives of state structures and the largest Russian and international companies, including Transneft, Rosneft, TNK-BP, Gazpromneft, Lukoil, BP, Sovkomflot, Russian Railways, Morgan Stanley, Mercuria Energy, Chevron, Purvin&Gertz, PVM and others. Conference delegates were delighted with the relevance and timeliness of the forum, as well as the professionalism of the organisation.
