

Changes to Argus Air Daily report and data feed, effective 09 January 2012

Argus Air Daily will reinstate its codes for vintage 2012 Clean Air Interstate Rule (CAIR) annual and ozone season NOx daily prices on 9 January. The CAIR ozone season NOx monthly index code will also be reinstated with the first publish date on 31 January 2012. Argus discontinued the codes on 14 October 2011 after the US Environmental Protection Agency eliminated vintage 2012 and beyond CAIR NOx allowances ahead of the implementation of the Cross-State Air Pollution Rule which was expected to start in 2012. A federal court on 30 December 2011 barred EPA from implementing the new rule and ordered EPA to continue enforcing CAIR pending the court's review of numerous legal challenges against it. To comply with the court, EPA will re-issue the CAIR NOx allowances it had eliminated the week of 9 January. The following series will be reinstated effective 09 January 2012.
