

Changes to Argus FMB Fertilizer Europe effective 6th February 2015

The CSV data in the \DEuroFert folder on the ftp.argusmedia.com server is generated weekly. The data is published as a weekly data file but the publication is only updated fortnightly.

The consequence of this is alternate data files are repeats of the published data with new dates. This legacy action is to be stopped with no further intermediate week data files published.

To clarify

Argus FMB Fertilizer Europe was last published on 16 January 2015, a data file was created on 16 January 2015

On 23 January 2015 a new data file will be published with the same data as 16 January but the with publishing dates set as 23 January 2015

The next new set of data will be 30 January 2015 corresponding to the next new issue.

No repeated data file will be published on 6 February 2015 or any middle week between issues thereafter.

Please note Argus policy is to publish any correction data as soon as it is discovered and rectified. This would in theory cause a data file to be created in the middle week between issues. Clients are urged to continue to check for new data files every week, if a file exists for the intermediate week, then please process the corrections contained within the data file.

If there are no corrections then there will not be a data file for the middle week.
