

Changes to all Argus FTP price module creation times effective 5 March 2015

Argus is changing the time mapping for the creation of the data modules on the Argus ftp site. The net result is that the times will be available at the same time, but they will not be affected by daylight savings time variations in different regions. This will make the content more reliable than the existing system that had a potential for late data availability. Customers in USA daylight savings time in spring will find the effect of this is for files created in other time zones to be delayed by one hour because of the different dates for implementing daylight savings in USA and the rest of the world.

The revised times will be:
